Speak Now 4. Quiz 1: Lessons 1–4 – People

A: Hey, Mitch! How are you doing?

B: Well, not too bad now, Carrie. But you heard about the setback I had a few months ago, right?

A: No, I didn't. What happened?

B: I was in a car accident. I was injured pretty badly.

A: Oh, no. How did that happen?

B: This guy was checking his text messages and went straight through a red light.

A: Wow! I hate it when people text message and walk. But driving? That's just crazy.

B: Yeah, I hear you. Luckily, there were witnesses.

A: That's good.

B: Anyway, I couldn't work for a while so I had lots of time to think. I made a big decision. I decided to make a change in my life.

A: That's great. What are you going to do?

B: I want to quit my job and start my own gardening business.

A: How wonderful!

B: But there's a little problem.

A: What's that?

B: I feel kind of awkward about confronting my boss with my decision. I mean he's always been really nice to me. He put up with me while I was still learning the business. I don't want him to resent me for leaving.

A: Oh, I'm sure he won't react badly. It's your life. I'm sure he will understand.

B: I really hope so.

QUIZ 2: LESSONS 5–8

Speak Now 4. Quiz 2: Lessons 5–8 – Socializing

B: Hi, Jack! Great to see you! You know my buddy, Glenn, right?

C: Uh, you look really familiar, but I can't remember where we met exactly.

A: Sure, I know Glenn... Uh, we met at a party last year. I think it was at Katie's house.

C: Yeah. That's right. How are you, Jack?

A: Great, thanks. Nice to meet you again, Glenn.

B: Actually, we're just on our way to meet Katie now. We're going to get bite at that new Italian place downtown. Are you in the mood to join us?

A: That sounds like fun. I really wish I could, but I just finished work and I'm really beat.

B: That's too bad. Well, maybe next time. You can always connect with me on Facebook. That's the easiest way to catch me.

A: Uh... well. Actually, I don't have a Facebook account.

B: You don't?

A: No. I don't really get why everyone likes Facebook so much. I'm sure it can be fun, but it just doesn't interest me.

B: Well, you should try it out. It's a great way to keep up with what your friends are doing. Anyway, you have my number. Give me a call sometime.

A: Sure. You guys have fun. Say hello to Katie. Bye.

QUIZ 3: LESSONS 9–12

B: Well, actually, lots, Tony. Recently, I decided to make some changes in my life.

A: Really? I'm not sure I know what you mean by changes.... Did you get a new job? Move?

B: No. I still have the same job and I live in the same place. But I decided to change the way I live. I stopped eating junk food. I try to eat only nutritious, locally sourced food. I'm not a vegetarian yet... but I'm also trying to eat less meat.

A: Good for you! I'm really impressed. Do you feel better?

B: Yes, I do, actually. I also decided to get organized. I realized that clutter in my life was affecting me in a really bad way.

A: I know what you mean. But what did you do?

B: I started reading some blogs about how to organize your life. There's lots of helpful information on the Internet.

A: Really?

B: Yeah. I just started tidying things up a little at a time. Now I make a plan about the things I want to get done every day, and I stick to it. I don't procrastinate. And it's amazing how much that helps.

B: Oh, of course, Mr. Patel.

A: I guess you know why I asked to see you.

B: Well, yes. I think you wanted to see me about the raise I asked for last week.

A: Yes, that's exactly why I asked to see you, but first I want to talk about a few other things.

B: Really? Is there a problem?

A: No, Ms. Griffith. There's no problem. You've been working here for about two years now, right?

B: Yes. Two years next month.

A: And what is the biggest challenge you've ever faced at work?

B: Well, every day is challenging. But I enjoy the challenge. I'm a hard worker, and I'm kind of a perfectionist. So I guess the biggest challenge is always doing a good job.

A: And Ms. Griffith, you have. You have done a very good job. You are punctual and very professional. Your co-workers say you are a real team player.

B: Wow! That's great to hear.

A: And that's why I am going to give you that raise you asked for.

B: That's wonderful, Mr. Patel! Thank you so much.

A: But that's not all. I am giving you a new position as well. You are being promoted to floor manager. How does that sound?

B: It sounds great! Thank you, sir. I won't let you down.

QUIZ 5: LESSONS 17–20

Speak Now 4. Quiz 5: Lessons 17–20 – Feelings

A: What's wrong? You look really upset.

B: Oh, I'm just really nervous. I developed this new program for kids to study English online and my company is sending me to California tomorrow to do a presentation.

A: Oh. Are you afraid of public speaking?

B: No, public speaking is fine. I'm afraid of flying!

A: Really? But people say flying is safer than riding in a car.

B: I know, but I guess I'm kind of claustrophobic. I just don't like being in that small space for such a long time.

A: But California is only two hours away.... You're in a movie theater longer than that when you watch a movie!

B: [Laughs] Yeah. I guess you're right. But I'm still really stressed about flying. Now I wish I hadn't ever written that program.

A: Oh, don't say that. You're doing a good job. That's why they want you to give the presentation. Hey, maybe I can help.

B: Help? How can you help?

A: Have you ever tried meditating?

B: No... I don't really take that stuff seriously.

A: Well, you should. Relaxation techniques really help when you have a stressful situation to deal with.

B: OK. I'll try anything right now if it makes me less nervous. How do I start?

A: Well....

QUIZ 6: LESSONS 21–24

Speak Now 4. Quiz 6: Lessons 21–24 – Pop Culture

A: What are you watching?

B: It's a documentary about Lady Gaga.

A: Oh, I love her! She is such a trendsetter. She doesn't even try to follow the fads. She really has her own style.

B: Yeah, I love her style. It's kind of crazy sometimes, but it's always trendy.

A: And her music is always so catchy and danceable.

B: Yeah. I saw her concert last year and she was great.

A: So how's the documentary? Any juicy gossip?

B: Actually, no. Gaga really hasn't been involved in too many scandals, except her clothes.

A: Yeah.

B: Actually, the show started out kind of slow... talking about her childhood. Did you know that she comes from a really nice family and had a great childhood?

A: You've got to be kidding!

B: No, she just always loved fashion and music, and she wanted to become famous.

A: Well, she's famous now. The paparazzi love her.

B: Yeah. It's hilarious how they follow her around, snapping pictures all the time. I would hate that.

QUIZ 7: LESSONS 25–28

Speak Now 4. Quiz 7: Lessons 25–28 – Travel

A: Are you OK? You look really tired.

B: Oh, I'm OK. I just got back from the worst business trip ever.

A: Really? What happened?

B: Well, it all started at the airport before I even left. On long flights, I always like to get an aisle seat so I can get up and move around. But the plane was full, and they only had a window seat left... at the back of the plane!

A: Oh, no.

B: The flight wasn't too bad, and I slept most of the way, but when I arrived, the airport staff had misplaced my baggage. It took two hours to find it!

A: That's terrible!

B: And the worst part is that I didn't know it's customary for some budget hotels to cancel your reservation if you are more than two hours late.

A: Really? I didn't know that either.

B: Well, it is in some places, so when I got to the hotel, they didn't have a room for me. Luckily, they let me lounge around in the lobby while I called to book another hotel.

A: Wow! Sounds like a really bad trip.

B: Well, the hotel I stayed in was better than the first one, so I guess it wasn't all bad.

B: No, I was watching the Olympics. Didn't you watch? The girls' soccer game was great. It was between the U.S. and Japan.

A: I didn't see it.

B: Wow! You missed a great game. It was a really close game, but in the end, the U.S. team outscored the Japanese team by just one point. It was really exciting!

A: Well, the news was pretty exciting, too.

B: Really? What's happening?

A: It seems the police finally arrested a criminal that they have been investigating for years.

B: Wow. What did he do?

A: They think he was responsible for breaking into homes all around the state and stealing money and jewelry over the past five years. Victims said that he broke into their homes when they were on vacation.

B: Was anyone ever hurt?

A: No, but he got away with millions of dollars over the years.

B: That's terrible! But at least they finally arrested him. Maybe that will help reduce some of the crime in this town.
